

PICK ME!

FOR R.5 STRUCTURE!

Generation Fix by Elizabeth Rusch

R.2 Central Ideas/Themes

Kids can change the world.

R.5 Structure

The author offers many examples of young people working to improve the world in many different areas. What do you think of the list of issues she chose to include (see table of contents)? Why does she offer more than one story for each? Why does she offer quotes from kids all around the country with their ideas on how to fix the problems? Why does she offer blank pages for your ideas?

R.6 Point of View

The author includes many different stories. How would the book be different if she chose only one or two?

R.7 Diverse Media/Formats/Pair with:

Do Something website: <http://www.dosomething.org/>
Prudential Spirit Awards
<http://spirit.prudential.com/view/page/soc>

R.9 Multiple Texts/Pair with:

Freedom's Children: Young Civil Rights Activists Tell Their Own Stories by Ellen Levine
We Were There, Too!: Young People in U.S. History by Phillip Hoose

Primary sources:
x used in book -- interviews
__available at:

Teaching resources available at:
Indepth chapter by chapter discussion guide available at www.elizabethrusch.com under FOR YOU/FOR TEACHERS

PICK ME!

FOR R.5 STRUCTURE!

Generation Fix by Elizabeth Rusch

R.2 Central Ideas/Themes

Kids can change the world.

R.5 Structure

The author offers many examples of young people working to improve the world in many different areas. What do you think of the list of issues she chose to include (see table of contents)? Why does she offer more than one story for each? Why does she offer quotes from kids all around the country with their ideas on how to fix the problems? Why does she offer blank pages for your ideas?

R.6 Point of View

The author includes many different stories. How would the book be different if she chose only one or two?

R.7 Diverse Media/Formats/Pair with:

Do Something website: <http://www.dosomething.org/>
Prudential Spirit Awards
<http://spirit.prudential.com/view/page/soc>

R.9 Multiple Texts/Pair with:

Freedom's Children: Young Civil Rights Activists Tell Their Own Stories by Ellen Levine
We Were There, Too!: Young People in U.S. History by Phillip Hoose

Primary sources:
x used in book -- interviews
__available at:

Teaching resources available at:
Indepth chapter by chapter discussion guide available at
www.elizabethrusch.com under FOR YOU/FOR TEACHERS